R Bryhn Construction flourishes as a one-stop shop for clients looking for a change, update or complete renovation to their home. Bryhn's team of designers, craftsmen and certified lead carpenters get the job done for residential remodels with a no-fuss system.

"We use a collaborative approach with the client from the first meeting through the entire project," says Roy Bryhn, CR, owner. "There are no architects blaming the builder, or vice versa, causing the client to suffer through delays and cost overruns."

We don't spend time looking for excuses, or who to blame, because we take full responsibility. That way, all of our effort and concern is focused on how to give the best value to clients."

A KINDER KITCHEN, A FINER FAMILY ROOM

One of the more interesting projects Bryhn Construction has worked on was a remodel of a two-story brick house built in 1929, located in Morris County. The homeowners, who chose Bryhn Construction after seeing the work the company had done on their neighbors' home, wanted an eat-in kitchen to replace their small, isolated eating space and an adjoining family room.

Bryhn Construction converted the existing garage into a family room and built an addition for the new kitchen. The company then turned the existing kitchen into a mudroom with closets.
